- 1. On 20 August 1952 the Kwangsi Military District Health Department, the Kwangsi Health Department, and the Nanning branch of the China Red Cross Association jointly organized a Nanning First-Aid Training Committee. While this committee eventually plans to establish first-aid training classes throughout the city, initially it will give training to factory workers and students of and above the secondary school level.
- 2. The committee has already established a students' first-aid training class which is training pupils of the Nanning First Middle School, the Second Girls' Middle School, and the Tao Chung (6670/0022) Girls' Middle School; it has decided to set up a first-aid station at each of these schools to which the China Red Cross Association will send first-aid kits.
